1 | What a Waste! No pun intended. This so called waste should be recycled in a fast breeder reactor; we need it for nuclear power plant fuel. If nuclear fusion never materializes as a practical power plant fuel, we will need all the fissionable materials available on this planet. Nuclear electrical power generation is the only energy source available to support 6-10 billion people.
The U.S. must be a leader and a practical exhibition of nuclear power to the world. On second thought, maybe not; the rest of the appears potentially capable of passing us in the dust.
